

CRYOBIOTECHNOLOGY TRAINING

22-25
October
2024

Hosted by The Huntington Library, Art
Collections, and Botanical Gardens in partnership with BGCI-US and CPC

CAPACITY IS LIMITED

The Huntington, in partnership with Botanic Gardens Conservation International, US and Center for Plant Conservation, is happy to announce a 4-day cryobiotechnology workshop geared to the botanic garden community. Eight spots are available on a first come first served basis. The workshop is meant to introduce both the theory and practice of plant cryobiotechnology and offer hands on training in a laboratory environment.

Please contact Heather Allison at (hallison@huntington.org) for more information or to reserve a spot.
